

Husnu Emrah Unalan received the BS degree in Metallurgical and Materials Engineering from Middle East Technical University, Turkey in 2002 and the MS and PhD degree in Materials Science and Engineering at Rutgers University, USA in 2004 and 2006, respectively. From 2006–2008, he was a Research Associate in Electrical Engineering Division in Engineering Department at University of Cambridge, UK. Currently, he is a professor at the Department of Metallurgical and Materials Engineering, Middle East Technical University. His research interests include the use of nanomaterials in flexible, stretchable and textile integrated electronics and energy harvesting devices.